Spanish News

With the new school season about to start the Coast is leading the way with exceptionally high standards in the education sector,

We continue to see the real estate market on the Costa Del Sol move in the direction of a mature market and the trends are showing more of our clients finding property with the sole reason to relocate and proximity to schools is top priority, this continues to follow in the footsteps of other globally mature markets.

In certain areas the demand is now so high that being able to secure long term lets is almost impossible and capital growth is breaking trends in these areas

Catering for this growing market we often get asked about which schools are best - below are the leading private schools on the coast.

Schools selected for full GSGI review are noted with next to their names.
